

Using Copyrighted Material

All students are expected to maintain and promote the highest standards of scholarly and intellectual integrity and honesty. As the author of a thesis/dissertation manuscript, you are responsible for certifying that the use (e.g. quotation, reproduction, etc.) of any previously copyrighted material appearing in your manuscript, beyond “fair use,” is with the written permission of the copyright owner.

Section 107 of the Copyright Act of October 19, 1976 (effective January 1, 1978) discusses the concept of fair use. Consult The Chicago Manual of Style for an in-depth discussion. In general, excerpts in excess of 150 words, provided they do not constitute a major portion of the original work, are acceptable within the fair use doctrine. Please note that paraphrasing does not relieve you of the obligation to provide proper identification of source data.

Material contained in your thesis/dissertation that is protected by copyright must not only be properly acknowledged, but may be included only with the written permission of the copyright owner, unless its use comes within the doctrine of fair use. (Note for Doctoral Candidates: ProQuest UMI Publishing Co. makes an effort to check with each PhD dissertation published for previously copyright material. They may contact you concerning proper attribution or a statement of permission.)

Please refer to Syracuse University Library’s Copyright and Your Dissertation page to be sure that you have complied with necessary copyright rules. For additional questions, please email Syracuse University Libraries Copyright Office.
